

Be Intentional Not Coast - Andrea DeCook

Jesus modeled intentionality with his disciples. As I've gotten to be an adult, I have noticed that staying connected with family members requires more work. We aren't all conveniently in the same places, it takes intentionality to stay connected and not drift apart.

Icebreaker:

- If you could own a restaurant what kind would it be?
- How have your priorities changed over time? Explain.

Small Group Questions:

- When was a time that someone showed up for you that impacted your life and/or your relationship with that person?
- Is there someone in your life that is hard to show up for? What about your relationship with them is difficult? Is there a way you can still show up for them?
- What are some small moments that you can prioritize with your people?
- How can you create an inviting environment? How can you prepare a space that helps others feel like they belong?
- Are there any relationships you currently feel like you are coasting through? What is a small way you can be more intentional with that person?
